

ANNUAL

EDITOR'S NOTE

Staying focused on your goal is a must in order to attain what you have planned for. But not always you get what you had aspired for. It does not mean that your effort is lost. Effort never goes waste. It is always rewarded; may be in a different way than how we anticipate.

We have so many examples in front of us where people strive for one thing but ultimately excel in another. That is why it is essential that we must continue putting in our best and leave the rest in the hands of Allah who has kept best for us.

There is a lot to learn when we look at the lives of our successful alumni. And to appreciate their contributions towards their professions and their country, we are giving lifetime achievement awards to them. But we have so many shining stars that the selection of a few is getting more and more difficult.
